China

The visa requirement on Mexico will be lifted in December 2016, which will likely result in a significant number of claims being filed in the following months.

Brazil is set to host the summer Olympic Games and the Paralympic Games - irregular migrants are likely to take advantage of the high volume of travellers for irregular migration by air to Canada via Brazil and other countries in the Americas.

It is anticipated that nationals from visa exempt, Designated Countries of Origin are highly likely to continue to account for at least 50% of all claims filed in the air mode.

Top 20 Source Countries for Refugee Claims

It is almost certain that there will be a continued increase in claimants at the land border who are holders of U.S. Non-Immigrant visas and who qualify for entry into Canada by meeting an exception under the Safe Third Country Agreement.

With mass migration continuing to occur in Europe, the reinforcing of borders, anti-migrant rhetoric and BREXIT still to be finalized, it should not be discounted that some irregular migrants may turn to Canada

Nigeria has been and will remain as, the top source country for the African region. Somalia is expected to be the second top source country in the African region. Eritrea, Libya, Burundi, and Ethiopia are each expected to account for a minimum of 400 refugee claims by the end of 2016.

Top Source Countries

It is anticipated that the primary source country for refugee claims will continue to be China with other top source countries being Nigeria, Hungary, Pakistan and Iraq.

Hungary has been and will continue to be the primary source country for refugee claims at a Canadian airport, despite being a Designated Country of Origin.

It is highly likely that claims filed by nationals of Syria at the land border and inland offices will continue to increase, given the ongoing conflict.

Irregular migration from Turkey is anticipated to increase given the ongoing conflict, tensions and aftermath of the failed coup in the country.

Based on analysis of a sample, 84% of nationals of China who filed inland claims in 2015, used the services of a smuggler.

Refugee claims from India have increased 132% compared to the same time period in 2015. Some push factors include: increasing religious tensions, discrimination and extensive poverty.

In the top 20 source countries, it is anticipated that there will be an increase in refugee claims filed at inland offices by persons who have entered Canada between POEs.

Iran, Nepal, the Sudan, Azerbaijan, Saudi Arabia and the People's Republic of Congo are only a few countries that have already surpassed the total claims seen in 2015 or are very close to.

REFUGEE CLAIMS AT PORTS OF ENTRY

For the President

PURPOSE

To provide an update on refugee claim levels at ports of entry (POEs) across Canada.

ISSUE

The Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) is experiencing an increase in claims for refugee protection at POEs, including from individuals seeking to enter Canada between identified border crossings.

BACKGROUND

During fiscal year 2016-2017, increases in refugee claims are being experienced nationally with particular spikes in the Quebec and Southern Ontario Regions. The attached table (attachment #1) provides a statistical overview of the volume increases over the past three years. Both land border and inland claims (between ports of entry) have seen significant spikes in claimants arriving from the United States (U.S.). The Agency together with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) receives funding for 22,500 claims as part of the annual immigration reference levels. Of note, the Agency's portion of the funding represents 40 percent or 9,000 claims per year.

As of January 30, 2017, refugee processing levels have exceeded the current funded target (10,186 total claims).

There are many factors that could contribute to the rise in refugee claims both at and between ports of entry including the Government of Canada's open and positive response to the Syrian refugee crisis, the removal of visa requirements for Mexican nationals, as well the evolving political environment in the U.S. coupled with the Safe Third Country Agreement exceptions in application (ex: when entering Canada between border crossings) further contribute to the asylum level increases.

PROTECTED B

STATUS

The operational pressures directly attributed to refugee claim volumes at POEs are compounded by a number of factors including: multiple claimants arriving simultaneously; file complexity; and length of time for refugee intake processing (on average 8.5 hours). Additionally, those seeking to make a refugee claim often do not speak either of Canada's official languages thereby requiring the use of an interpreter and as a result, lengthening the process. These workload factors inhibit the ability to redeploy officers in response to other operational pressures including primary inspection line volume surges and border wait times.

In addition to the increasing number of refugee claims, the recent visa lift on Mexican nationals has created growing number of immigration secondary referrals resulting in enforcement actions. The downstream effect of these actions directly impacts inland enforcement through detentions, hearings and possible removals. The Government of Canada has also announced visa lifts for Romanian and Bulgarian citizens effective December 1, 2017, which have the possibility of creating similar impacts to port of entry operations.

In response to the surge of inland claims in the Quebec Region, as many as nine officers are assigned to handle refugee claims on any given day. This places pressures on the port of entry operations and will be particularly challenging during peak summer season. Of note, the majority of inland claimants being processed in Quebec are in possession of a valid U.S. visa. The ease in which foreign nationals can obtain a U.S. visitor visa is of concern; discussions are ongoing with the U.S. State Department on these recent trends.

The recent Executive Order (Protection of the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States) issued by the President of the U.S., has created a surge in additional refugee claims at and between POEs. Due to uncertainty surrounding the implementation of the order, it is difficult to assess what the full impact may be at this time.

NEXT STEPS

The Agency continues to monitor the refugee levels through the weekly Mexico visa lift dashboard, significant event notifications for mass arrivals and inland claim reporting.

CBSA will continue to monitor the situation in the U.S. and adapt resources and processing according to pressures arising from any demands.

Operations Branch

REFUGEE CLAIMS PROCESSED BY CBSA

It should be noted, as of January 30, 2017, Mexican Nationals have made 292 claims for refugee protection so far for fiscal year 2016-2017. Most of these claims were processed by the CBSA (62 percent) with the remainder (38 percent) processed by Immigration, Refugees, Citizenship Canada (IRCC). Since the TRV lift, 146 refugee claims have been made by Mexican nationals (effective January 30, 2017) with 77 percent (113 claims) processed by the CBSA and the remaining 23 percent (27 claims) at IRCC offices inland. The CBSA's percentage of claims processed post visa lift continues to not commensurate with the funding allocation representing 40 percent of the refugee processing.

In addition, based on the current overall refugee claim intake (FY 2016-2017 – Stats below) the CBSA is currently processing 49% of overall refugee claims.

MANAGING MIGRATION FLOWS BETWEEN CANADA AND THE US

- The Safe Third Country Agreement was signed between Canada and the United States on December 5, 2002 and came into force two years later.
- According to the agreement, refugee claimants are required to request refugee protection in the first safe country they arrive unless they qualify for an exception.
- The STCA applies only to refugee claimants who are seeking entry to Canada from the US: at Canada land border crossings; by train; or at airports, only if the person seeking refugee protection in Canada has been refused in the US AND is in transit through Canada after being deported from the US.
- STCA was premised on both countries having fair domestic asylum systems that provide due process and an assessment of risk upon return as per our international obligations and the 1951 Refugee Convention.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

- A review that would lead to the suspension of visa and other immigration benefits to nationals of countries of particular concern, which include Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria and Yemen.
 - This country list is the same as the countries from which dual nationals were no longer eligible for consideration under the Visa Waiver Program that were put in place in 2016 under the Obama Administration.
- Suspension of all refugee admissions for 120 days (4 months) and suspending indefinitely all refugee admissions from Syrian nationals.
- A reduction in the number of refugees allowed into the US this fiscal year to 50,000 (from the 110,000 goal previously set by the Obama administration).
- Rescinds authorities for exemptions to overcome existing Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility (TRIG) and the waiver of interviews.

What does this mean?

- The EO addresses the US refugee resettlement program and not/not the domestic asylum system

IMPACT OF EXECUTIVE ORDER

- US CBP continues to provide assurances that the STCA will be respected and the US Asylum program has confirmed that their domestic program is operational.
- Public policy measures were introduced by the Minister of IRCC for individuals in Canada who were negatively impacted by the Executive Order.

IMPACTS TO THE CBSA:

- CBSA continues to apply the STCA at the land border
- Since the implementation of the executive order, 443 refugee claims received at Canadian ports of entry.
- Emerson and Lacolle ports of entry continue to receive the greatest volumes of refugee claimants arriving from the United States.
- BSOs & Inland Enforcement officers challenged to meet increased volumes thereby possibly drawing resources away from other business lines.
- Security Screening and Triage Centres are pressured to meet intake which may result in high volumes of postponement at the IRB.
- Additional refugee intake could be a challenge for Hearings Officers to respond to IRB proceedings thereby creating backlogs in multiple business lines.

IMPACT OF EXECUTIVE ORDER - LITIGATION

- Syrian national and three children claimed refugee status at Lacolle POE on February 3, 2017. Individual was deemed ineligible to pursue the claim as STCA applied.
- An application for a stay of removal and leave to seek judicial review of the eligibility decision filed with Federal Court. Applicant is challenging the constitutionality of the STCA provisions in IRPA.
- Minister of IRCC issued Temporary Resident Permits for two weeks.

Potential impact:

POLICY OPTIONS

- IRCC is the policy lead for the Safe Third Country Agreement

OPERATIONS PLAN

- Working with NGOs on both sides of the border, the CBSA will manage the flow of individuals making claims at POEs so as to minimize disruption for other service lines. As well, claims will be taken at specified POEs within certain hours of operation.
- Temporary facilities may be erected in order to process claims away from the border. CBSA would undertake the lead in processing these claims and, it is anticipated, that groups of individuals may need to be provided accommodation in the short term.
- Working with IRCC, the CBSA will direct individuals in land so that they may claim refugee status at an IRCC office.

MIGRATION – CONTRIBUTORY FACTORS

PUSH

- Economic downturn in certain countries.
- Informal networks assisting individual to get to the border for relatively low cost.

PULL

- Family reunification.
- Canada is viewed as more welcoming.
- Relatively, it is easier, quicker and cheaper to obtain refugee status in Canada compared to the US.

OPERATIONAL IMPACT AT THE PORTS OF ENTRY

- Refugee claims made by individuals who cross into Canada in between ports of entry continue to increase since the introduction of EOs.
- Three ports of entry in particular have been affected:
 - Emerson POE:
 - Refugee claims increased by 25% over last year.
 - Claimants no longer consist of single males from Somalia. Rather asylum seekers from Djibouti, Eritrea, Ghana as well as families.
 - Lacolle POE:
 - Refugee claims increased by 76% over last year.
 - Claimants are from Eritrea, Sudan, Yemen, Syria, Iraq and Romania
 - SOR:
 - Refugee claims increased by 38% over last year.
 - Claimants are from Columbia, Iraq, Burundi, Syria, Nigeria and Eritrea.

What do they have in common?

- The majority have valid passports and US visas. Some individuals obtained a US visa as conduit to access Canada.
- Most want to relocate to Ontario.
- A lot of these individuals are not long term residents of the US.

DEVELOPING AN OPERATIONAL PLAN

- The CBSA has implemented measures to address operational pressures at ports of entry in Emerson MB, Lacolle, QC and Southern Ontario directly attributed to increased refugee migration from the United States.
- In particular, at the port of Emerson, CBSA continues to work with the RCMP to ensure any claimants arriving between ports of entry are provided proper medical attention and protection from the extreme weather while being processed; the Agency also works with IRCC and local resettlement service organizations to provide the necessary humanitarian assistance.
- The CBSA has initiated interdepartmental contingency planning with key federal partners including the RCMP, IRCC, Public Safety Canada and GAC to develop a holistic, coordinated, federal response in the event of a larger influx of claimants. As an extension of IRCC and their settlement programs, officials at the provincial and municipal levels will also be engaged in planning for significant arrivals.
- Engagement with US partners is ongoing to understand any future policy changes and continue to explore opportunities to work collaboratively on border related issues.

NEXT STEPS

- Complete development of operational plan in collaboration with internal and external partners.
- Bilateral discussions with US:
 - Department of State
 - Customs and Border Protection
- Ongoing coordination and discussion with the RCMP.
